✘ The Tie That Binds ✘ by Dale Jenkins

Welcome! What if there was a place of love and acceptance? What if there was a place of forgiveness and patience? What if there was a place where hurts were not stored up? What if there was a place where people challenged each other to be the best they could be? What if there was a place where the Word of God was honored and followed? What if there was a place where praise and worship were equal parts spirit and truth? What if there was a place where when the people disagree they talked with each other instead of at each other? What if there was a place where seeking the lost and seeking the erring was primary? What if there was a place where the welcome was warm and genuine? What if there was a place where young and old cared deeply for each other? What if there was a place.....There is, or at least there can be. It is and can be THIS PLACE! The key is for you and for me to be the things we wish to be - or more accurately - the things God demands we strive for. We are and can be that place but it must start with me. THIS PLACE blessees my life and I pray you will let it bless yours. I love you all.
