THE TIE THAT BINDS

by Dale Jenkins

Welcome. On behalf of this wonderful Family here at Spring Meadows, I want to say how glad we are that you are here. Today we will fill this place with praise to the Lord. We will open His Word and study how it relates to our lives today, we will prayerfully thank Jesus for His sacrifice on our behalf, we will share some of God's gifts to us to bless others and to promote His Work, we will seek to encourage each other in every positive way, and we will lift our voices in the reading of His Message. We're glad you are here to be a part of all of that and we hope your soul is renewed in it.

Today we resume our Children's Bible Hour time. Thanks to so many who stepped forward to aid in this reopening. Before the sermon, Larry will dismiss those who attend that time. If you are a guest with children, they, of course, are invited. Our shepherds here want our kids in our assembly. This short time they are out is so they can receive an "age-appropriate" lesson and so parents can focus on our study.

Tonight we will have an adult class here at the building as Steve Peden begins teaching, Dan Winkler's adult class will continue online, our teens will have in-person classes, and our college students will meet at 6. If you bring your teens and stay for class but have some children who are not yet teens, you can feel free to have them sit with you during class. It's going to be a grand day.

Please pray for me. Today, for the first time since March 15th, I will preach on a Sunday morning somewhere other than Spring Meadows. We'll be blessed here by Andy Baker's preaching. I'll miss you and look forward to being back Sunday. More good days are coming! Hang on and let's enjoy this crazy ride together.
