Come, Let Us Worship

"Come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our Maker." — Psalm 95:6

There is something the ancient poet knew that we sometimes forget in the rush of a Sunday morning — that worship is not just something we attend. It is something we enter.

Today, before the announcements settle and the first song is sung, take a breath. Look around at the people gathered in this place. Remember why you came. The God who made you — who shaped the mountains and set the stars in their courses — has invited you into His presence this morning.

So let's be here. FULLY HERE. Not distracted by your phone or by the week behind us or the afternoon ahead of us. Just be present before our great Creator, who is worthy of every song we sing and every prayer we pray.

If you are visiting with us today, welcome. We are so glad you found your way here. Spring Meadows is not a perfect church — we are simply a group of imperfect people who love a perfect Savior. If you are looking for a place to belong, to grow, and to be known, we would love nothing more than for you to make this your home. Please introduce yourself to someone today. We mean it when we say: we are glad you are here.

Chuck
